NATURE SPARES

The Stricken Rose From Grief.

What a fortunate provision of nature it is, that deprives the rose of mental suffering; for how poignant would be its grief to discover, in the height of its blooming glory, that a canker fed at its heart, and that its beauty and fragrance were doomed forever. Nature always spares the suffering; she is a veritable store-house of pleasing rewards, for those who seek her aid. In the years gone by falling hair and grayness have cast a gloom over the lives of thousands of young women, but thanks to the investigations of scientists the true cause of hair destruction is now known to be a germ or parasite that burrows into the hair follicles. Newbro's Herpicide absolutely destroys this germ, thus permitting the hair to grow as nature intended. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

DISORDERS IN OHIO.

With eight companies of State troops on guard in Springfield, Ohio, as a result of Tuesday night's mob violence, in which six houses were burned in the colored residence district, more incendiary fires were started early again last night in various parts of the city. In every instance the houses were occupied by negroes, or negroes and whites. A negro house at Harrison and York streets was stoned by a large crowd, but the occupants are believed to have escaped.

"The "flivers' nest," which is inhabited by negroes and figured in the Dixon mob and subsequent race war two years ago, was assailed last night and several attempts made to fire it, but as it is guarded by militiamen the effort has so far failed. Several alarms were turned in as a result of the fires started, but no general alarm, as every available fireman was at work on the fires already under way.

Several negroes who had been chased by the angered whites from the negro quarter of the city made their way to the city building, which is in charge of the soldiery.

Judge Kunkle, of the Common Pleas Court, was asked yesterday to order a special grand jury to investigate the riot. After a conference between the Court, Sheriff Alimoney, Mayor Todd and Assistant Prosecutor Laybourne, it was decided to defer this action, as there seemed to be no chance to make a satisfactory inquiry at the present time.

Four companies of the Fourth regiment, Ohio National Guard, left Columbus yesterday evening for Springfield to assist the authorities there in maintaining order. Troop B, of Columbus, has also been assembled at its armory under waiting orders.

Reports are in circulation at Dayton that the jail in that city, where Edward Dean and Preston Ladd, the negroes who caused the Springfield riot Tuesday night are now confined, may be attacked. It is feared that some of the leaders of Springfield mobs will come by train or traction cars to Dayton and incite the railroad men and their sympathizers to violence.

The distance from Springfield to Dayton is only 25 miles. In consequence of this feeling the police have been instructed to keep a close watch on saloons and other places where the mob spirit might show itself. The jail is a very formidable building and could not easily be broken into.

Only 80 members of the two local companies answered the call to turn out and quell the mob. Two years ago the condition was the same, and Major Kirkpatrick was court-martialed as a result. Yesterday the feeling was that local militiamen could not be expected to turn out under the circumstances. However, there is likely to be an investigation of the charge that members of the local companies were among the rioters. Mayor Todd has detailed detectives to find who were the leaders of the mob.

Hardware dealers have been doing an immense business in the sale of revolvers and cartridges. If was estimated that three-fourths of the men on the streets Tuesday night were armed.

Many negroes are fleeing from the city, going to Columbus, Dayton, Xenia and Urbana. It is estimated that 100 negroes have left.

Much interest centers in the condition of Martin Davis, the Big Four brakeman who was shot Monday night by the two negroes whose action was the cause of Tuesday night's trouble. Davis lies at the City Hospital, his life hanging by a thread.

Committed Suicide.

The remains of Robert L. Traynham, the young Roanoker who died suddenly in Lynchburg Tuesday while under arrest for the alleged murder of his father, former sheriff John B. Traynham, 10 days ago, were carried to Roanoke yesterday and interred near the grave of the murdered man. The body was taken direct from the train to the cemetery, the only religious tribute being a brief service at the grave. It developed yesterday that poison, in powder form, was discovered in Robert Traynham's clothes after the autopsy and inquest, and little doubt remains that he committed suicide, while his manacled hands were covered with a policeman's overcoat. His relatives have ordered an analysis of the stomach.

The authorities who worked up the case against Traynham yesterday stated it to be their belief that he gained admission to his father's chamber ostensibly for the purpose of spending the night there. He undressed and went to bed with his father and during the night, it is alleged, committed the crime, washed his body of blood, put on his clothes, which were not stained, and left the scene. Notes signed with the name of the murdered sheriff continue to turn up, and are pronounced to be forgeries made by Robert Traynham. Robert Traynham left several life insurance policies, his wife being the beneficiary.

Champion Liniment for Rheumatism

Chas. Drake, a mail carrier at Chapinville, Conn., says: "Chamberlain's Pain Balm is the champion of all liniments. The past year I was troubled a great deal with rheumatism in my shoulder. After trying several cures the storekeeper here recommended this remedy and it completely cured me." There is no use of anyone suffering from that painful ailment when this liniment can be obtained for a small sum. Row at a Church.

Serious disturbances occurred Tuesday during the taking of the inventory of a village church near Saugues, Department of Haute-Loire, France. An enormous crowd, armed with sticks and stones, surrounded the gendarmes, many of whom were beaten or pelted with heavy stones. The gendarmes, in order to extricate themselves, fired their revolvers, wounding 15 of the manifestants, two of whom were mortally hurt. The officer commanding the gendarmes and the government commissioner were both badly injured by the rioters. The gendarmes retired with difficulty.

THURSDAY EVENING, MARCH 1, 1906.

THE most definite and accurate thermometer of the cost of the insurance scandals, first disclosed a little more than a year ago, which the public has yet had the privilege of examining, was the annual report of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, given out in New York yesterday after the annual meeting. While the figures show startling losses along certain lines, they also indicate that the reforms instituted by the new management as a result of the probing of the Armstrong and the company's own investigating committees are already beginning to bear no small crops of fruit. At the end of last year the company had $30,419,000 less outstanding insurance than it had twelve months previous. There was a falling off in new business amounting to $81,224,000, most of which is directly traceable to the general public suspicion against insurance which the investigation aroused. The large increase in the amount paid out in "surrender values"—$7,731,000—much of which went to alarmed policy-holders, is directly traceable to the insurance trouble. Yet in spite of this the company paid $6,709,000 in dividends to policyholders, an increase over the previous year of more than $707,000. This is the greatest increase in the company's history. The effect of the reform administration of Paul Morton is shown in a decrease of expenses to the amount of $1,050,000. This decrease is in spite of the fact that it cost the company $502,000 to investigate itself, which comes under the head of an extraordinary expense.

REPRESENTATIVES Cannon, Crumpacker, Keifer and some lesser lights of the republican party find that while they invariably raise their hands in horror whenever negro fiends are summarily dealt with south of Mason and Dixon's line, that they are brought to realize that there is much to be removed from their own doorsteps. This is made patent by scenes in Springfield, Ohio, during the past forty-eight hours. This is not the first act in race war which has been witnessed in the same neighborhood recently. In the southern country there are prompt responses on the part of members of military organizations when there is a call to arms to keep fiends from falling into the hands of lynchers, but in Ohio, it seems that there was a disposition on the part of most members of the military companies to show apathy when their services were demanded, and the larger percentage failed to respond. The police were impotent and the mob burned houses and terrified people without let or hindrance until they tired of the work. Such conditions are not only shameful, but serious, as an example is set the militia which may be followed on other occasions.

THE treaty between the United States and Santo Domingo, under which the former undertakes to collect and disburse the customs revenues of the latter, was reported to the Senate in executive session yesterday by Senator Lodge by authority of the committee on foreign relations. The committee reached its agreement, all of the republicans voting for the favorable report and the democrats voting against it. A number of important amendments to the treaty were made by the committee. Briefly, the treaty provides for the adjustment of the claims against Santo Domingo under the supervision of the United States. This government is to take charge of the cusioms house and collect the revenues, pay 45 per cent. to the Dominican Republic and withhold 55 per cent., the latter amount to be used to liquidate the debts of the republic. The real fight over the treaty will soon begin.

SINCE the establishment of several large employment bureaus by the Ohio State government in 1890, 384,091 applications have been made for work and 325,794 for help. Last year these bureaus found employment for 19,650 persons at an average cost to the State of 68 cents each. This is regarded by sociologists as both cheaper and better than trying to keep up with the procession of unemployed and destitute by supplying poorhouses or other refuges.

A RECENT decision by the United States Supreme Court that a railroad cannot deal in the commodities it hauls, or at least that it cannot give itself rates that it refuses to other dealers in the same commodities, comes pretty close to answering questions regarding the coal roads that have been asked recently in Washington.

MARCH came in like a lamb with fleece as white as snow and as cold as 'the beautiful."

Seven firemen were burned, three so severely that they may die, by an explosion of chemicals in the Dewey Dyeing establishment, in New York, this morning. Panic seized the people in the neighboring flats, and many fled from their homes.

From Washington.

Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.
Washington, March 1.

The Interstate Commerce Commission is out on a still hunt for a special counsel to assist in conducting the railroad investigation imposed upon it by the Tillman-Gillispie resolution. Charles E. Hughes, of New York, is the man the commission wants, and it is said that he has been tendered the position. Should he decline, Judge Calhoun, formerly a member of the commission and later counsellor at the State Department, and John G. Carlisle, former Secretary of the Treasury, may be selected. A man of national reputation will be chosen and Congress will be asked to foot the bill. The counsel will be chosen within a week. He will be put in charge of the investigation, which will exceed any governmental investigation ever held, and it will be disappointing if the first public hearing is not held within a month or six weeks. Whatever method of investigation is chosen a large appropriation must be secured for its conduct. In order to prevent the keeping of a separate account—of the expenditures, the commission will ask Congress to increase the current expenditures. This increase will probably be in the neighborhood of $50,000 available immediately, and another $50,000 available during the next fiscal year. It is roughly estimated that the investigation will continue two years.

The State Department received a dispatch from Consul General Rodgers at Shanghi this morning stating that it was definitely known that American property at Nanchang was safe and that the refugees had arrived at Kiukiang.

At the Chinese legation it is believed that the rumor of the Dowager Empress' death is without foundation. Minister Chentung has received no advices on the subject, and seems to be quite certain that if the report were correct he would have been informed before this. The State Department is also without confirmation of the report.

The House committee on elections No. 1, today decided in the contest against Representative Michalek of Chicago, the right to whose seat was questioned on the ground that he is not a citizen of the United States, in favor of Mr. Michalek. The action of the committee was unanimous, and that motion to report in Michalek's favor was made by Mr. James, of Kentucky, a democrat. Mr. Michalek is a republican.

Mr. Harry St. George Tucker had as guests at dinner last night Secretary Shaw, Secretary Taft, Secretary Bonaparte, Postmaster General Cortelyou and the members of the Virginia delegation in Congress.

The probability of an adjournment of the Algeciras conference without an agreement on the questions of difference between France and Germany has so impressed high authorities in Washington that they are inclined to look with forebodings upon the situation which is likely to insue in European policies.

The House committee on merchant marine and fisheries today ordered a favorable report on the Morell bill to prohibit shanghaing in the United States.

Fifty-ninth Congress.

Washington, March 1.

SENATE.

Senator Dolliver, the champion in the Senate of the President's railroad rate policy and through whose efforts the Hepburn bill was brought from a hostile committee, hurled defiance at his opponents today. In a speech in the Senate he inserted the probe of his caustic sarcasm into the deliberation of the committee, which had shorn him of his laurels at the last moment, by selecting Mr. Tillman to report the bill, which the Iowan had so long fought for, and also to manage it upon the floor of the Senate.

The Senator before a large audience expressed his deep and abiding faith in the Hepburn bill, and make the prediction that it would pass the Senate very slightly altered in form from what it was when it passed the House of Representatives by an almost unanimous vote.

While Mr. Dolliver declared that he was not the mouthpiece of the administration, his remarks were generally credited as having had the fullest approval of the President.

HOUSE.

Upon convening, today, the House adopted the Senate joint resolution extending the tribal relations and governments of the five civiiized tribes of Indians until such time as the affairs of the Indians can be brought to a settlement. The Curtis act, under which the Indians are governed, expires on March 4.

The military appropriation bill was then again taken up in committee of the whole.

George Did it, His Hatchet Helped.

A great woman once said, after hearing the boom of cannon and sound of martial music which accompanied the celebration of Washington's birthday in a New England town, "How wonderful it is! to so live that years after you have passed away your name and memory will be honored."

It was indeed a wonderful life that called forth the demonstration of appreciation that proud and grateful Virginians paid to the memory of Washington last Thursday. To the thoughtful soul, the deeper meaning lying back of all such occasions is an inspiration to renewed activities.

Not alone does this inspiration come to the individual, but in this age of combination, organizations pledged to the uplifting of humanity feel its power.

This is strikingly true of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, an organization whose membership numbers half a million women, whose story of gospel temperance has been told around the world.

Thursday was a red letter day in the history of the local union in this city. The lunch room under their charge was a success in every sense of the word; the elite of the visitors gave it liberal patronage and many were the expressions of gratitude that there was so homelike, so safe a place where strangers could come and be sure that everything was "all right."

The thanks of the Allison W. C. T. U. are hereby extended to each and all who in any way contributed toward the occasion. We know our cause was advanced and added laurels were won to weave in the crown of victory that shall eventually rest upon the endeavors of those who own the power of those magic letters, W. C. T. U.

THE LEGISLATURE.

SENATE.

The Senate spent nearly the entire session yesterday considering the general appropriation bill. A number of amendments were made to the House bill, which will require a conference of the House and Senate committees. Nearly all the amendments were along the line of increase over the House bill.

Senator Wickham, chairman of the finance committee, in presenting the bill, made an exhaustive explanation of the items and declared that in meeting all the demands that they had come perilously close to the danger line, and that the consideration of as small an appropriation of $3,000 was a very serious matter. He called attention to several directions in which this was an added annual expense, such as the enlarged number of employees of the capitol buildings and grounds at a cost of $5,540. He referred to the corporation commission and the great work done by that body. He said they had been much hampered by want of funds to employ clerical force. The bill recommends an additional clerk at $1,500, an additional stenographer at $900 and for additional clerical work in the office at $1,200; also an increase of the contingent fund of $1,500, making the amount $5,000. Perhaps the most important amendment was the one providing for an assistant attorney general at a salary of $2,500, the attorney general to make the appointment. Mr. Wickham said the committee had carefully examined into the matter and found that the attorney general was very hard worked and that an assistant was absolutely essential.

Other amendments for increases were made as follows: Supreme Court judges, from $4,000 to $5,000; Supreme Court reporter, from $1,200 to $1,500; Supreme Court stenographer, from $1,200 to $1,400; superintendent of the Western State Hospital, from $2,250 to $2,500; Southwestern State Hospital, from $1,800 to $2,000.

The fund for cattle quarantine was increased from $750 to $2,000, and the fund of $6,000 for the crop pest commission, which was stricken from the House bill, was restored by the Senate committee. The grand total of State appropriations for the year is $8,400,000, an increase of $1,066,142 over last year.

Senator Saddler, from the special committee to recommend a change in the conduct of the register of the land office and the superintendent of buildings and grounds, made a report which embodies a number of recommendations, among which are the following: That the office of register of the land office be abolished and the books and records be delivered to the secretary of the commonwealth, to be under his care and control; that all the buildings and grounds be under the supervision and control of the superintendent of buildings and grounds, who is to receive the salary heretofore paid the register of the land office and superintendent of buildings and grounds; that convict labor on the grounds be abolished and that free labor be employed.

The Senate committee on finance and banks has reported a substitute to the Mann amendment in reference to social clubs, which its advocates hope will do away with the fake concerns without embarrassment to legitimate institutions.

The substitute vests in circuit and corporation judges the power to refuse to license any club unless satisfied that the character of the membership is such that no harm will result to the moral and material welfare of the community in which the club may be located, and also providing for the revoking of the license should the club prove objectionable.

The Senate, in executive session, yesterday, confirmed the appointment of J. D. Patterson as a member of the penitentiary board.

The appointment of Mr. Julian T. Baldwin, as superintendent of public schools of Alexandria county, was rejected as was also that of Mr. R. H. Beasley, of South Boston, as member of the board of trustees of the Virginia Female Normal School at Farmville. Mr. Beasley's name was held up at the same time as that of Clowes, but was not acted on until yesterday.

HOUSE.

What began as a dramatic incident and ended nearly a ludicrous one, took place at the opening of the House when Judge Williams rose, to make earnest protest against the violation of the rule excluding all but members and ex-members from the floor. Almost before the speaker's protest began there was a hustle towards the door, and before he was through the coat tails of the last lobbyist was lost to view.

The bill Judge Williams designed to prevent a combination of fire insurance companies to make rates came up as a special order. The bill passed by a vote of 65 to 23, and Judge Williams received many congratulations on his victory. The bill is identical with the old Wharton law which for a time broke up the operation of the southeast tariff association in Virginia, and was subsequently repealed. The object of the measure is to prohibit combination to control rates.

The Clowes fitness investigation closed yesterday with the argument by counsel for Clowes, and for Dr. Foster, superintendent of the Eastern State Hospital, and the committee will probably report today. It is said the investigation took a wider range than merely the fitness of E. H. Clowes for membership on the board, and that the committee will recommend to the legislature a special committee for a general investigation of the Eastern State Hospital. Bills looking to this end have been drawn, and will be presented in both houses. The committee will sit in recess, and will, perhaps, take a month for the work.

Indications point to the fact that the resolution introduced by Delegate Byrd, calling for a committee of two from the House and one from the Senate to find out whether the people of Virginia are paying more for the same school books than the people of other States, and if they are to find out why and place the responsibility where it belongs, will pass the House and Senate.

Of the 400 bills introduced in the Senate and some 1,300 in the House, just an even 50 have passed and been sent to the Governor.

Two hundred and sixty-odd bills have been acted on by committees and reported to the House. The Senate calendar gives no hope of better expedition.

Not one of the 50 bills so far turned out has any general significance, with the exception of the Senate bills for the relief of the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac and other railroads, which measures have already been passed in the Senate, nor are they of the character in relation to public welfare the people of the State had hoped would result from this session.

The fate of the public school bill that originated in and was passed by the House, carrying an appropriation of $400,000 for the primary schools of the State, still rests with the Senate. The highway commission bill, which, at best, provides only an advisory board, without funds to build such roads as it may lay out, is held up. The present and continuing daily order in the Senate is the general appropriation bill, each item of which seems to bring on a debate. The High School bill, the Normal School bill and the special election bill are still in committee. Bills in relation to the liquor traffic have not emerged.

The report has again been started that there may be an extra session.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies and by constant failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address:

Today's Telegraphic News

Quiet at Springfield.

Springfield, O., March 1.—At 7:30 this morning the situation was well in hand, the militia being in absolute control of the rioters and everything was quiet. The actual damage done by the mob last night was not so great as the night before, but was equally disgraceful.

If necessity comes the soldiers will shoot to kill.

Sixteen ringleaders of the mob are under arrest.

Eight companies of militia are patrolling the city and mobs are being kept in check.

Dayton, O., March 1.—Guarded by companies G. H. and K. O. N. G. Prentiss Ladd and Edward Kean, the Springfield negroes, were taken from the jail here this morning and left for Springfield at 11 o'clock. The negroes were hooted in the street, but no attempt was made to interfere with the militia.

Christiana, Norway, March 1.—News has just been received from Haugesand to the effect that between 20 and 30 persons were drowned. The sinking of the trading steamer Thor near that place. So far as known only three persons who were on the vessel, were saved. The steamer was at anchor near Haugesand riding out a gale, when the cable parted and she smashed on the shore, sinking almost immediately.

Japan's Latest Warship.

Liverpool, March 1.—The Post states that the latest warship now being constructed by Japan will entirely eclipse anything now afloat including the English terror Dreadnaught, recently launched. A remarkable feature of the new warship is that it carries masts and sails, an innovation, which startled the British admiralty which has appointed experts to report upon the advantages of such a change in the accepted plans of battleships.

The Threatened Strike.

New York, March 1.—President George F. Baer, of the Reading Railway, left Philadelphia this morning for Washington to confer with President Roosevelt on the anthracite strike. New York Stock Market.

New York, March 1.—There was continued liquidation of speculative holdings during the first hour, most of the selling coming from commission houses, whose customers had neglected to respond to calls for increased margins. There was no special support from any quarter and to a great extent the market was left to take care of itself by the interests that are looked to for action on the bull side Prices at the opening showed irregular changes and the movements since then continued irregular, but many stocks appeared to have touched bottom in the early trading and a number made fair rallies.

Letter to J M Johnson,

Alexandria, Virginia.

Dear Sir: Two and two make four—not always; depends upon what "two and two" are.

Two gallons of water and two gallons of milk don't make four gallons of milk.

Neither does four gallons of paint that's half lime, whiting, clay and kerosene oil, make four gallons of real paint.

That's what we mean by saying "Fewer gallons; wears longer." It takes fewer gallons of Devoe lead-and-zinc than of mixed paints to paint a house, and it wears twice or three times as long as lead-and-oil mixed by hand.

Mr Chas Avery, of Herkimer, N Y, bought 51 gallons of Devoe lead-and-zinc to paint his five houses, his painter having figured that it would require at least that amount; 36 gallons did the work and he returned 15 gallons. Yours truly

In a fire early this morning which damaged Cox Bros.' stables, in Philadelphia, Ernest Smith, a negro, 25 years old, who lived in the place, was smothered to death before he could escape.

The entire plant of the Armour Beef Co., on the northeast corner of American and Norris streets, Philadelphia, was destroyed by fire early this morning.

COURT OF APPEALS.

The proceedings of the Court of Appeals day Tuesware as follows:

Would not Answer Negro Lawyer.

Mrs. Dora Leonard, fashionably clad, was fined $10 in the Court of Criminal Correction in St. Louis Tuesday for refusing to answer the questions of a negro attorney. She engaged in a colloquy with Judge Hiram Moore, and was severely spoken to. Mrs. Leonard was prosecuting Phoebe McElroy, formerly employed by her as a servant, whom she accused of stealing a table cloth, some napkins, a pillow slip, towels and a pair of shears. H. H Hofer, counsel for the defense, endeavored to get Mrs. Leonard to tell how she identified the articles. She refused to reply to his question, saying: "I don't have to answer a nigger." Judge Moore imposed a fine of $10 and ordered her in custody of the sheriff till it was paid. She paid, still insisting that she would not answer "the nigger."

Burned to Death.

Mrs. Christiana S. Mackenzie, sister of the late Gov. Oden Bowie, of Maryland, was burned to death yesterday afternoon, in the Bristol Hotel, in Baltimore, where she had apartments. Mrs. Mary Simms, who conducts the hotel, was burned on her right hand and her left hand was scorched while fighting the fire, and her dress also caught fire, but the flames were extinguished before they had gained much headway. Two other ladies and Mrs. Mackenzie's grandson, who aided in putting out the fire about Mrs. Mackenzie, were not injured. Mrs. Mackenzie was alone in her apartment when her clothing accidently caught fire. The fire caused a panic in the hotel, where the guests are mainly ladies, and for a time great excitement prevailed.

[COMMUNICATED.

The Baptist Minister, Rev. R. P. Johnson, who said, as quoted in Tuesday's Gazette, that if all Christians tried to copy Christ's life exactly it would be the greatest possible calamity that could happen, seems to have overlooked the fact that the Master himself enlightened mankind on that subject two thousand years ago. The Evangelist tells us that one came and said unto him, "'Good Master, what good thing shall I do, that I may have eternal life?'

"And he said unto him, 'If thou wilt enter into life, keep the commandments.' The young man saith unto him, 'All these things have I kept from my youth up; what lack I yet?' Jesus said unto him, 'If thou wilt be perfect, go and sell that thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven; and come and follow me.'"

Evidently the Master discloses two Christian lives—the common and the higher. Under this Divine plain Christianity has developed for over 1900 years, the common-life and the higher life going on side by side, and secular civilization has been, at least, no loser.

The New Postmaster.

The appointment of Mr. Thomas Burroughs as postmaster at Alexandria was sent to the Senate by the President yesterday evening and a telephone message from Washington to the Gazette, announcing the appointment, was received just in time to be published in that evening's issue. The news soon spread throughout the city and was received with general satisfaction though the other candidates all had friends who had hoped that their respective choice would receive the appointment.

The candidates were Messrs. Burroughs, L. Washington, S. R. Dishman, chief property clerk in the Quartermaster's Department at Washington; J. Armistead Eggborn, who for a time had the support of the Slemp faction of the republican party in the State, and James E. Johnston. During the past few days the impression had gotten abroad that Mr. Washington would be made postmaster by the President as a "personal appointment," but later developments proved this report to have been ill founded. The others were out of the race some time ago.

Mr. Burroughs, who will succeed Mr. Crupper as postmaster on April 1, was born at East Rupert, Vt., and came South with a Vermont regiment of volunteers at the beginning of the civil war. He settled in Alexandria the latter part of 1864 and entered the postoffice as a clerk under William D. Massey in the spring of 1865. He has been connected with the office since then, with the exception of four years, when he left to engage in farming near Manassas and during the four years Mr. C. C. Carlin was postmaster. Mr. Burroughs was chief clerk under Postmasters Massey, Nicholas P. Trist, William N. Berkley and Lewis McKenzie, and was assistant postmaster under David A. Windsor, W. W. Herbert, Park Agnew and Joseph L. Crupper for 24 years.

Although Postmaster Crupper's term does not expire till April 10, he will retire from office March 31, the end of the postal quarter, and Mr. Burroughs will enter upon the discharge of his new duties on April 1. The salary of the office is now about $2,700.

When seen this morning by a representative of the Gazette concerning the appointment of his successor, Postmaster Crupper said:

"Mr. Burroughs' splendidly endorsed petition and the visit of the ladies to the White House in his behalf all tended to show the President that the appointment of Mr. Burroughs would be highly satisfactory to the citizens and patrons of the office, and I venture but little when I say that both Postmaster General Cortelyou and First Assistant Postmaster General Hitchcock regarded Mr. Burroughs' case as the best presented to the department. Republicans, coming to Washington, from every section of the State without reference to former factional alignments declared that former State Chairman Agnew should be consulted in his own city, while Secretary Shaw lent his powerful aid because of his desire to oblige Mr. Agnew.

"But, after all, it was Colonel Slemp's recommendation that moved the President to name Mr Burroughs, and to Colonel Slemp is Mr. Burroughs' greatest obligation due."

Mr. Burroughs said in answer to an inquiry, as to who would be his assistant, that he had not given the matter a moment's thought, but would be guided largely in the matter by the views of Messrs. Agnew and Crupper.

As stated in the Gazette of Monday last a delegation of ladies from this city on that day waited on the President on behalf of Mr. Burroughs's appointment. The Washington correspondent of the Richmond Times-Dispatch gives the following account of the interview:

A delegation of women from Alexandria went to the White House Monday to see the President for the purpose of urging him to appoint Mr. Burroughs, assistant postmaster, to the place. Representative Rixey, of the Alexandria district, chanced to be at the White House when the delegation arrived, and they besought him to take them into the President's chamber. Now, to get them there, it was necessary that Secretary Loeb should be seen. It is small trouble to see Loeb, but to get by him to the President is another matter.

Mr. Loeb received the delegation with all the frigidity possible for him to assume, and, in addition thereto, put on for the occasion a cloak of more than the thickness of that which he habitually wears, and it is thicker than any seen in Washington. The home of official dignity in this country is the national capital. But the cloak was not heavy enough to frighten or awe the ladies.

They told the secretary what they wanted. They were informed that the President did not trouble himself about such small matters as the Alexandria postmastership, but they told him they knew otherwise. Furthermore, they assured Mr. Loeb that they had been warned against him, that they had been told that he would do all in his power to prevent their seeing President Roosevelt.

Secretary Loeb tried to induce them to see the postmaster-general, telling them that he attended to all such matters as the one on which they wanted to see the President, but they were still firm. It was then that Mr. Rixey came to the rescue and told the secretary that he would assume the responsibility of taking in the ladies. The President was not in the inner room when the delegation went in, and while waiting the ladies gave quite free expression to their opinions concerning the general character of the secretary.

Mr. Roosevelt received the ladies most cordially. The spokesman, no longer Mr. Rixey, but one of the ladies, stated their mission.

"Let me see," said the President. "There is somebody else spoken of for that place. Let me see—what is his name?" and he was evidently searching his mind for the name of another man spoken of for the place. "Eggborn," said the President. "Is not that his name?"

"There is a man named Eggborn who has been talked of for the place," said one of the ladies, frigidly. "But we feel sure you will not appoint him. He is a foreigner. He was not born in Alexandria."

"That reminds me that an appointment to a postmastership in Virginia some days ago was objected to on the ground that the man was not a native of the town," said the President, and he laughed heartily, as he added, "I found out that he had only lived there forty years, and was born in Virginia."

"But let me see," he continued, "the name of a Mr. Washington has been mentioned for the position."

"Yes," said one of the ladies, "people say you will appoint him because he has thirteen children."

"That is a good recommendation," said the President, who evidently saw the humor of the situation.

"Well, I would like to say to you that I am the mother of twins," replied one of the ladies, with dignity.

"I am delighted to hear it, madam," said the President in his most cordial manner, and, extending his hand, he grasped that of the lady who had imparted the interesting information, and shook it heartily.

And so the battle-door and shuttlecock of conversation went back and forth for some minutes, and finally the ladies came away. They evidently enjoyed the visit less than did the President. He did not assure them that he would appoint Mr. Burroughs; in fact, it looked to the visitors that he was inclined to select Mr. Lawrence Washington for the place.

Funerals.

The funeral of the late Captain Dixon took place this afternoon from the residence on Gibbon street, between Fairfax and Lee, and was attended by relatives and friends. Osceola Tribe of Red Men, of which organization the deceased was a member, attended the funeral in a body. The services were conducted by Rev. B. A. Scull.

Mrs. Sarah Leatherland, whose funeral occurred yesterday afternoon from her late residence, 227 north Henry street, was born in Nottingham, England, in 1823, and for many years had resided in Alexandria. She was the widow of John Leatherland, who for many years was an extensive coal dealer in this city. During the civil war he supplied the government with coal as well as having had an extensive trade in other places. She had two brothers, John and George Dewey. The latter, who still survives, was at one time the owner and editor of a daily paper in Kansas City, where he now resides. Her brother John died several years ago, and neither of these men was in any way connected with the Irwin Brewery, as was reported in the Gazette of Monday. She leaves two children, a son and daughter Mr. John Leatherland of north Alfred street and Miss Emma who lived at home with her mother. The deceased was of a retiring disposition, and particularly so in the latter years of her life, yet thoroughly christian in character. In the earlier years of her life yet she identified herself actively in church and charitable work and lived to the time of her death a most consistent christian life. She was one of the oldest members of Trinity M. E. Church, in which her husband was at one time one of its most efficient workers and financial supporters. The community as well as the family have suffered a loss in her death. She was buried by the side of her husband in the old Methodist Cemetery and the pallbearers, in addition to her three grandsons, were Messrs. O. F. Baggett, J. F. Dyson and William Drownes.

The Jones's Point Lighthouse.

Mr. F. E. Wilkins, keeper of Cedar Point lighthouse, accompanied by his wife, with their household furniture and other effects, arrived off Jones's Point this morning on board the U. S. supply steamer Holly and landed. Mr. Wilkins had been ordered to take charge of the lighthouse today, but the fact that some members of Mrs. Greenwood's family are suffering from chickenpox caused the newly-appointed keeper to delay the formality of taking charge. It was generally believed that there had been some misunderstanding in the matter, as the President last Monday had notified a committee from the city that Mrs. Greenwood would be appointed to the position provided such appointment did not conflict with the rules governing "the good of the service." As the order for the transfer of the Cedar Point lightkeeper to Jones's Point was issued some time before and as no order to the contrary has been issued, it is understood that Mrs. Greenwood will have to retire at once and that Mr. Wilkins will take charge.

Since the above was in type a telephone message was received at this office from the office of the Light House Board in Washington stating that the President had issued no order setting aside the order of the board in reference to the Jones's Point Lighthouse, so the order appointing Mr. Wilkins will stand.

Mrs. Greenwood, who has lived at the lighthouse for over forty years during which time her late husband was the lightkeeper, is moving out today.

Did Not Sink Schooner.

Passengers on the steamer Washington, which arrived here from Norfolk yesterday morning, say the weather was so thick in Hampton Roads last Tuesday evening that objects a square away could not be discerned. A schooner suddenly loomed up in the path of the Washington, about half an hour after the steamer left Norfolk, and the officers of the latter, who were keeping a sharp lookout, signalled to reverse the engines. It was impossible, however, to stop the Washington and she crushed the schooner's lifeboat. The crew became frightened when they saw the lifeboat had been destroyed, and asked to be taken from the schooner on board of the steamer. In accomplishing this the careening of the steamer and the schooner damaged the latter. The schooner was towed into Norfolk yesterday morning. The report printed yesterday that she had been sunk was erroneous. The steamers of the Norfolk and Washington line make trips every day in the year, and the fact that the Washington rode out the storm Tuesday night without damage while other bay steamers did not venture to leave harbor is the best evidence of the seaworthiness of the boats of that line.

The Garside Stock Company.

"Resurrection," dramatized from the novel of that name by Count Leo Tolstoi, was presented at the Opera House last night by the J. S. Garside Stock Company to a fair sized audience. Judging from the applause the play was a decided success. Ernest M. Bostwick, as Prince Dimitri, had the title role, and his interpretation of the difficult part was indeed excellent. Seldom has a leading man of a company displayed so much talent as has Mr. Bostwick and his acting is always thoroughly enjoyed by those present. The role of Katiousha was in the hands of Miss Pauline Seymour, and could not have been better portrayed. Miss Seymour's acting is always enjoyable. Mr. Garside, as James Grant, deserves special mention, while the minor parts, as is always the rule with this company, were in charge of capable people. The specialties were again of a pleasing nature and were vigorously applauded. Three splendid prizes were given away last night. Tonight the company will present one of the best comedy-dramas in its repertoire, "Under Two Flags," a play abounding in dramatic interest and full of good comedy situations. New specialties will be introduced and three beautiful prizes will be presented to those holding the lucky numbers. Larger crowds should greet this company, as it is one of the best popular-priced companies. Producing first class dramas, that has been seen in this city at intervals for several years. A matinee will be given on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Deaths.

Mr. Charles Watkins, a well-known citizen, died at his home on St. Asaph street, between King and Cameron, this morning. The deceased leaves a widow and several children.

Mr. J. Thomas Lindsey, son of the late James Lindsey, of this city, died in Staunton yesterday. The deceased was 60 years old. His remains will be brought to this city for interment. Mr. Lindsey was formerly associated with his brother, the late Noble Lindsey, in the ship chandlery and grocery business, and at one time was one of Alexandria's prominent and successful merchants.

Mr. Victor Struder, a well-known citizen of Fairfax county, died at his home near the Cameron run bridge, a short distance southwest of this city, yesterday. The deceased was 85 years old. He was a brother of the late George Srtuder, of this city. He leaves a widow. Mr. Struder was the father of twenty-three children, most of whom are living.

Personal.

Mrs. Clarence C. Leadbeater will be at home on Wednesdays in March at 414 north Washington street.

Mr. Harrison E Lyles is temporarily filling the position of assistant Market Master.

Mr. E H O'Brien, jr., one of the principal engineers in the DuPont Powder Works, of Wilmington, Delaware, is quite sick at the home of his parents in this city.

Mr. Benjamin H. Swain, formerly of this city, but for some years past an employee of the government printing office, was graduated as a doctor of medicine with his class, at the winter convocation of George Washington University, Thursday, February 22 at the Belasco Theatre, Washington.

Capt Herbert Bryant is confined to his home by a severe cold.

Tearing Up Tracks.

The use of the old Long bridge by the steam or electric trains going in and out of Washington is now a thing of the past, and should the draw of the new Highway bridge hang up and refuse to close, as it did a few days ago, the trains will have to wait until repairs have been made. A gang of laborers was put to work by the Pennsylvania Railroad Tuesday morning tearing up the old tracks, which, until a few days ago, were used by the electric railway. The tracks were torn up, it is stated, to make room for the building of the stone retaining wall along the bottom of new railway embankment, the approach to the new steel railway bridge at the Washington end, and in preparation for some improvements to be made in the Potomac Park. The bulk of the wagon travel to and from Washington into Virginia is still using the old bridge, though a number of the lighter wagons are traveling over the new Highway bridge.

New Wharf.

The wharf constructed by the Mutual Ice Company in the rear of their premises, foot of Cameron street, is now ready for occupancy, and on Monday next Mr. W. M. Reardon, agent of the Maryland, Delaware and Virginia Railway Company's steamers and the boats of the Randall line, will remove from the wharf on the Strand to the new pier. The latter has a frontage on the river of 135 feet, and a length of 270. The main building on the pier is 90x40 feet, and the office 14x24. The wharf is of solid earth with cushion piles at the ends to act as buffers between steamers and the pier.

Advent of March.

Following the cold and wintry weather of the past two days, prospects of less frigid temperature were last night held out by the weather bureau, together with a diminution of the breezes which have created such discomfort. Fair and somewhat warmer is the prognostication. Conditions this morning portended snow. The cold and high wind of the past forty-eight hours had diminished, but the atmosphere was still penetrating and the heavens threatening, but later in the day fair and warmer weather prevailed.

Chinese Social.

A Chinese social will be given at the manse of the Second Presbyterian Church tonight by a number of young ladies, members of one of the Sunday school classes. Every arrangement has been made and an enjoyable time is anticipated by all who purpose to attend.

Burned Woman to Death.

Luis Brown, of Norfolk, charged with the murder of Flossie Reese, fatally burned as the result at being struck by a lighted lamp, alleged to have been thrown at her by Brown, was given a preliminary hearing in the police court yesterday and held for the March grand jury upon the charge of first-degree murder.

The main witness for the prosecution was Grace Wagner, living in the house in which the Reese woman was assaulted and burned. The witness said that she, Brown and Flossie Reese were in the house alone; that she heard Brown threaten to throw the lamp at the Reese woman when the latter refused to give him money and then heard the Reese woman scream. She met Brown in the hallway after the lamp had been thrown, and the Reese woman was on fire. The Wagner girl said she begged Brown to give her the outside door key so she could give an alarm, but Brown refused, saying, "D—d her; let her stay there and burn."

The witness said she finally raised a window and screamed for help. When the witness reached the Reese woman she found one arm burned to the bone and her breast burned entirely off. Other persons who were passing testified to the condition of the Reese woman when she was carried from the Washington street house to the hospital ambulance.

Brown was not allowed by his counsel to take the witness stand, and had nothing to say in his defense. He was committed to jail without bail. Brown will be indicted by the grand jury next Monday, and his trial will likely proceed without delay.

Wife Accuses Her Sister.

Mrs. Anna Cole, wife of Robert Cole, who is employed as trainer by Joseph O. Colloday at the Willow Grove Stock Farm, armed with a warrant and a stout hickory cane, applied at the Twenty-second district police station Tuesday for assistance in locating her husband, who, she said, had deserted her and eloped with her 19-year-old sister, Helen Wygend, on Wednesday of last week. She said the two were supposed to have started housekeeping on Germantown avenue, near Somerset street. Mrs. Cole, a prepossessing brunette, who is the mother of three children, aged respectively 6 and 4 years and 2 months, stated that her husband had been the soul of honor and faithful to her until a year ago, when her sister came from Colfax, Va., to live with her. She declares that the girl became a favorite with her brother-in-law and up to the time of the elopement, the wife said, she worked for her sister and husband like a slave. Mrs. Cole stated that she was nearly destitute and unable to provide for her little ones, and that if the husband was not found she would lose her place at the farm. Special Officer Lawson was detailed to look for the husband.—[Philadelphia Record.

Disappointed Couple.

Archie L. Bright, 24 years old, and Miss Leo B. Loan, 16 years old, an eloping couple from Bath county, Virginia, went to Washington yesterday, expecting to be married on their arrival, but on making application for a license at the City Hall the young people were surprised to learn that on account of the girl's age permission could not be granted them.

"I was told that there was no restriction here as to age," the young man told the clerk. "It is a great disappointment to me; we have traveled 150 miles, and the prospect of going back and facing the people at home is not a pleasant one."

The young man explained that the objection to their marriage was by the young lady's mother, who thought that her daughter was not old enough. He was confident, he said, that should they go back married parental blessings would follow.

"Before I came in here," he confided to the clerk, "I was told to say that the girl was 18 years old, but my conscience would not allow me to do that."

The bride-elect did not go to the clerk's office, but waited at the residence of Rev. Mr. J. J. Muir, pastor of Temple Baptist Church, 512 Third street northwest, who was to officiate at the ceremony. Mr. Bright said they would return to Goshen, Bath county, last night.

A Chicago Alderman Owes His Election to Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"I can heartily and conscientiously recommend Chamberlain Cough Remedy for affections of the throat and lungs," says Hon. John Shenick, 220 So. Peoria St., Chicago. "Two years ago during a political campaign, I caught cold after being overheated, which irritated my throat and I was finally compelled to stop, as I could not speak aloud. In my extremity a friend advised me to use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I took two doses that afternoon and could not believe my senses when I found the next morning the inflammation had largely subsided. I took several does that day, kept right on talking through the campaign, and I thank this medicine that I won my seat in the Council." This remedy is for sale by Gibson & Timberman and W. F. Creighton & Co.
